Invest in the planet

Employees and customers choose businesses that support the health of the planet over those that don't.

Our business partnerships allow companies to create powerful and measurable impact aligned with the UN SDGs.

What we do

WeForest develops and manages science-backed climate solutions.

We work in threatened and degraded tropical forests and landscapes to create locally-led reforestation projects.

But our work is about more than planting trees.

It's about getting results for the people who live in the areas we're restoring - this is crucial if we want to be sure that forests will be protected for the long term.

Why choose WeForest?

On the ground

Unlike many other organizations, WeForest retains long-term control over the delivery of projects to ensure they're successful.

Focused on impact

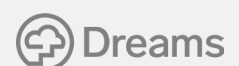

Our approach is a proven science-based model. We use comprehensive monitoring and evaluation techniques to clearly report on our impact.

People first

We consider our social impact as well as environmental by working closely with local teams and empowering communities.

Some of our Business Partners:

What you'll receive

- ✓ A digital map of the area where your trees are growing, with stories from the field
- ✓ A personalized company sponsor web page showcasing the impact of your contribution (sponsorships only)
- ✓ Impact certificates to help you promote your contribution, or to give as a gift
- ✓ Videos, photos, social posts and content from your project for you to use in your own communications
- ✓ A Partner Badge that you can use on your website or email signatures
- ✓ Twice-yearly progress reports on the project's socio-economic and ecological impact
- ✓ Advice on how best to share the content and impact of your partnership with us

How can we work together?

Impact Marketing

Some companies fund the growth of trees or the restoration of land per product or service sold. This is a great way to demonstrate your climate commitment to your customers.

% for forests

Some companies contribute a percentage of their revenue or a fixed amount per product sold to forest restoration.

Employee engagement

Bring your workforce on your climate journey by challenging employees to achieve health or wellness targets that are translated into donations.

Bespoke partnerships

For companies interested in carbon sequestration or who have something specific in mind. Speak to our team about how we can help.
